Report to the Listener February 1985

by Phil Tymon

Goodbye

I've grown accustomed to the place—something like growing accustomed to the New York subways. However, I've informed the Pacifica powers-that-be that I will not seek renewal of my contract as General Manager, which expires on April 1, 1985. I am currently seeking a position which requires little effort and pays extremely well. All tips and rumours will be accepted with great kindness.

WBAI certainly reflects New York in one way—it contains the absolute best and the absolute worst. It's just a matter of how long you can stand the worst in order to get the best.

It's rare to meet people who provide a model for what you want to be, rather than a model of what you want to avoid—role models by affirmation, not by elimination. While I have met, worked with, and been supported by dozens of lovely people here at WBAI, I particularly feel enriched for having known Carolyn Goodman, David Rothenberg, and Reggie Workman. Each of them has set an example for me in their work and in their humanity. Each will continue to remind me of how I would like to be—though being lazy and grouchy by nature it may take me a few lifetimes.

In one of the interviews prior to being allowed this opportunity, Ken Jenkins said to me, "You know, you have to be tenacious in this job." In my mind, I visualized a cat hanging on to a sheer wall a thousand feet above ground, claws extended and furiously gripping nothing, but hanging on nevertheless. It wasn't an inappropriate image. But I can't hold on any longer. Time to go.

PUSSIFICA SPEAKS

Another One Bites the Dust

As WBAI's station cat, I've seen managers come and managers go (well, two actually), and the station continues to survive even in spite of these transition periods. A management search committee has been formed to locate the next big chief who will be sworn in on April Fools Day.

Thank you

To all the volunteer-listeners who came in to answer phones during our deep-freeze marathon; to One Smart Cookie in Park Slope in Brooklyn for their donation of sweets for the volunteers; and to Barbara, Carolyn and Rosa for making it all run smoothly. Everybody else at the station gets a little bored with all the pitching during the marathons. Not me—I love all the new friends I make each time we have a 'thon, though I haven't met a feline yet.

Dances

We'll be hosting a series of dances the first Saturday of each month at 19 West 21st Street from now through the next several months. The first dance is Saturday, February 2 at 9 pm with host deejay Fred Herschkowitz; and on Saturday, March 2 with host Kate Borger. A live band will be featured each night along with food and drinks. It costs six goldfish at the door. See all you cats and kittens there.

Not Live from New York

During February all of our programming will be on tape, part of the vast archives of WBAI's 25 years. This gives our producers a chance to stretch their legs and prepare for the new program schedule beginning in March. Thanks to all who responded to the listener survey recently sent out, as we'll take your opinions into account as we make new changes.

Our 28th birthday?

In less than three years, I, Pussifica, along with the radio station I live in, will be forced to move. I've been told that what we need in a building is: relative proximity to the Empire State Building, near public transportation, at least 10,000 square feet, some concrete floors for studios, a large service elevator, and a performance space. What we don't need is a factory next door that goes thump, thump, thump, or landlord hassles. Donating a building to WBAI could ba a great tax advantage for a generous listener. Rick Harris is heading the building search committee, so contact him about that perfect building. Are there any more Louis Schweitzers out there?

Speaking of Louis Schweitzer

Be sure to attend WBAI's 25th Anniversary Party and First Annual Louis Schweitzer Awards on March 31. The cost: 50 clams per person. The place: The Cat Club, 76 E. 13th Street, my favorite Manhattan bistro.

FEBRUARY

THIS MONTH ON WBAI

"Is it live or is it Memorex?" goes the television commercial, and broken glass notwithstanding, WBAI is all-tape during February—no live shows until March, except for the evening News and a special or two. In our archives are a rich library of programs that should be heard again because they are part of WBAI's history. During January we heard from the many personalities of 'BAI radio from years gone by. In February we give you a month's worth of our best productions. Lest you think the staff will go on strike with no live shows, we tell about that when it really happened on FEBRUARY 11, 1977: THE CRISIS AT WBAI, airing on February 11 at 7 am.

In choosing programs this month, we looked to ones that stood the test of time and some of these are time capsules, of sorts. Tune in for: GROWING UP FEMALE IN THE 50's at 1 pm on Tuesday, February 5, produced by Brett Harvey; A SHORTCUT THROUGH 1981, a review of that year produced by Peter Bochan, Tuesday, February 12 at 5:30 pm; FINDING HISTORY also on the 12th at 12:30 pm; and LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS, from the 1974 series on the American Revolution on Monday, February 11 at noon, produced by Paul McIsaac.

February is the month we say yes to love with LOVE SONGS presented by Al Angelero on Monday, February 11 at 10 am; LOVE STUFF, on the more physical aspects of love on Wednesday, February 13 at 1 am, produced by Kathy O'Connell; on the COST OF LOVING, an examination on women and the fear of intimacy on Thursday, February 14 at noon on a VALENTINES DAY SPECIAL; WHY I GOT MARRIED from the CONSCIOUSNESS RAISING SESSIONS from the 1970's on the 14th at 3:30 pm, produced by Nanette Rainone; A LOVE STORY OF THE 1940's also on the 14th at 5:30 pm, produced by Ginger Miles; and ROMANCE, a reading and interview with a romance writer on Monday, February 18 at 9 pm.

February is Black History Month and WBAI offers a variety of programs to commemorate the history of many black activists and artists. Listen in for GRANDMA WAS AN ACTIVIST, a series on radical women in the 1940's beginning with THE BLACK AND THE RED, on activists in Harlem in the early days of the depression, Thursday, February 21 at 9 pm; THE BALLOT OR THE BULLET, a speech by Malcolm X on Tuesday, February 19 at 6 pm; EXPRESSIONS, a ten-part series on the arts in the black community beginning at 1:30 am on Monday, February 18 and continuing through the week at 3:30 pm and 5:30 pm, with topics including STORYTELLING IN THE ORAL TRADITION on the 18th, INVENTORS on the 19th and CHILDREN'S GAMES on the 21st, produced by Judi Moore Smith. Also, BLACK REBELLION on THE TURBULENT 60's, Monday. February 18 at 6 pm, produced by Bill Schechner; A MAN'S LIFE, on the life of a civil rights activist on Wednesday, February 20 at 8 pm; and, among many other specials, THE HIDDEN RADICAL DIMENSIONS OF DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING on Wednesday, February 20 at 6 pm, including King's denouncement of the Vietnam war.

WBAI will not lay to rest the history of the war in Vietnam and continues the examination of that war with some important interviews and documentaries. Author Wallace Terry talks about black Vietnam vets in his book BLOODS, on an interview with Wallace airing on Tuesday, February 19 at 9 pm, produced by Mimi Rosenberg. A VIETNAM RETROSPECTIVE is scheduled for Tuesday, February 26 at noon and includes OPERATION DEWEY CANNON, when Vietnam vets marched on Washington in 1971. If you missed the program THE BATTLE OF DENANG during January, hear it now on Saturday, February 2 at 2 am, where Chris Koch reports from a Vietnam battlefield. To inform the public on the dangers of what has been called "The Next Vietnam" is INEVITABLE REVOLUTIONS, on the U.S. involvement in Central America, Wednesday, February 13 at noon, produced by Paul Hoeffel.

WBAI presents THE FREE MUSIC STORE most every evening at 9:30 pm, with encore performances from our live concert series including: ARCHIE SHEPP (2/18), ODETTA (2/19), HOWARD JOHNSON'S GRAND COMING OUT PARTY FOR THE TUBA (2/21) and many others. Music specials of note are our annual presentation of Wagner's Ring on RING DAY, Sunday, February 17, 7 am to 2 am the following morning; and a HANDEL SPECIAL, marking the 300th anniversary of the composer's birth on Saturday, February 23 from 9 am to 7 pm, presented by The Laughing Cavalier; and while we're on the subject of classics—ALLAN FREED: A REMEMBRANCE, on Saturday, February 23 at 9:30 pm, with tapes of Freed's Rock & Roll shows during the 1950's, produced by Jack Shugg.

For those in the audience who are losing sleep over the changing schedule, or who miss the shows that helped put them to sleep, there is always NIGHTVOICES, a show about the time between wake and sleep on Friday, February 15 at 9 pm, produced by Joseph Chaikin.

To all, a happy February, and welcome to the great adventure.

Look for programming featuring these personalities & topics on the days indicated.

ECONONEWS, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4 at 4 pm. Hear the Econonews team tell it like it is on this broadcast. Left to right above is: Rich Shrader, who has written a great deal of disposable copy about politics and is eagerly awaiting the reunion of the Sex Pistols; Joan Greenbaum, Dr. J to some of her students, teaches Computer Science at LaGuardia Community College and Economics at Barnard; Maarten de Kadt, who teaches Business Management and Economics at Empire State College—he is serious about economics but believes there is hope anyway; and Barbara Solow, the youngest member of the fab four, but then she is no stranger to radio. Barbara began her career at age 12 when she started helping the dj's at WDCR spin request discs in NH. Since then she has produced documentaries ranging from unions to prostitution. "Radio is just a hobby to me," she insists. "To be a serious producer you have to own a tape recorder. Really, I'm just doing this because I can't get a job at CBS."

GRANDMA WAS AN ACTIVIST, THURSDAY and FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21 and 22, and MONDAY to THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25-28, 9 pm. Features interviews with some of the women who helped make the decade following the Crash of '29. The voices of Louise Thompson Patterson and Queen Mother Moore recall the Scottsboro Case and the Harlem riot of '35; Rose Kryzak on the tactics of tenant organizers—stuffing furniture with rocks to resist eviction; Loretta Aseliga, "The Red Rose of Washington Square," on being busted—these and many others tell us what it was like to be a woman of the radical conscience against a backdrop which includes the Great Depression, the rise of Fascism, the emergence of Stalinism and, finally, the outbreak of war. Produced by Radio Arts.

A GEORGE FRIDERIC HANDEL SPECIAL, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 9 am to 7 pm. WBAI commemorates the 300th anniversary of the birth of George Frideric Handel, who was born in Halle on February 23, 1685. Among the recordings that will be presented by The Laughing Cavalier are the compendium of early recordings of selections from MESSIAH, including six sides from the first "complete" recording of the oratoria, made in 1906, three numbers recorded at the last Crystal Palace Handel Festival in 1926, and a chorus recorded by the Leeds Festival Choir in 1907. A portion of the day will be devoted to recordings of keyboard instruments actually played by Handel, and a number of rare and unusual recordings of Handel vocal and instrumental works will be broadcast during the course of this 10 hour celebration of the anniversary of Handel's birth.

Reality in Journalism

American Atheist Magazine

One of the more commonly accepted myths in the U.S. is that "a wall of separation" exists between church and state. At this point in time it should be obvious to all that any such concept is, and always has been, only philosophical rhetoric. The American Atheist organization has long realized that a religious dictum is in virtual control of all levels of civil government in America. To truly understand how clerics and political bigots impose fundamentalist ideas into our society you must read American Atheist magazine

Larry Josephson

Radio: Satirical Relish for Antisocial Breakfasters

Larry Josephson Is a Boon to the Grumpy

By JACK GOULD

BREAKFAST radio long has needed someone who resents mornings, cheerfulness and promptness. The torrent of contrived patter, tunes intended to instill a bright outlook and weather reports confirming in depth whether the sun is out or not has impinged on the one period of the day when a viable antisocial attitude is the hallmark of civilized normality.

Preferably, of course, the radio should be turned off along with all subliminal worries about accumulated wifely memoranda, school buses, bank deposits and the plumber's promise that he will turn up surely this week.

Dawn is no time for cold showers and after-shave astringents; it should be an oasis of totalitarian privacy broken only by coffee served in deferential silence.

If the electronic pressures of the nineteen-sixties preclude the attainment of even so modest a millenium, however, a measure of relief may be obtained at the most unlikely radio station in town: WBAI, the frequency-modulation outlet that normally defines a light program as a discussion of the poverty gap against a background of English polyphony of the 13th century.

The program in question, called "In the Beginning," runs from 7 to 9 A.M. and presents a gentleman named Larry Josephson, who after getting off the air goes to work as a computer programmer for Computer Applications, Inc. He is a 27-year-old graduate mathematician from the University of California at Berkeley and apparently his early morning disk-jockey chore is in the nature of a rebellion against the precision and logic that exact their toll the rest of the day.

At least Mr. Josephson often begins his program with the attractive habit of not arriving at the studio on time. But once he does start he is really less a disk jockey than an aural happening, a whackily inspired individual with a relish of the humor of contrast.

Yesterday morning, for example, he did a simulated public-service announcement on a Catholic college having a reunion and dance and then, without another word, put on Prof. Tom Lehrer's hilarious recording of "Doing the Vatican Rag." To preseve a semblance of nondenominational detachment, he also offered one of the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham's impassioned evangelical flourishes, augmented by music that could have been a blend of Guy Lombardo and Wayne King.

Mr. Josephson is a punster who would win the approbation only of Bennett Cerf, but he can be forgiven in light of other observations that suit a purpose. He reports that Greenwich Village has a new bumper sticker: "Send Joe Pyne to college." For a friend who was late in getting dressed he played music to get dressed by: i.e., Ravel's "Bolero" or Beethoven's Fifth.

WBAI Offers a Relief From Cheerfulness

WBAI's self-described egocentric could not always be expected to be funny between 7 and 9 o'clock five mornings a week and he isn't. Mr. Josephson can slip with the best of them. But when he is on the beam there's more satirical sting to his remarks than will be found on the programs of any number of morning hosts. Undoubtedly, he is an acquired taste, and even some in the WBAI congregation may rush back to the comforting blandness of Pat Summerall. But, for those who get out of bed on the wrong side and want to feel good about it, Mr. Josephson is to be recommended in place of instant oatmeal and diet toast.

Radio: Innovation on FM

Control of WBAI Passes to Pacifica, Which Hopes to Get Listener Financing

By JACK GOULD

THE CITY'S first broadcasting station designed to be financed directly by its listeners—not by advertising sponsors or taxes—began operation yesterday afternoon on the frequency modulation radio band.

Congratulatory messages from Governor Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner were read during brief ceremonies marking transfer of control of WBAI (99.5 megacycles) to the Pacifica Foundation, a West Coast non profit organization that has won a loyal following among California listeners.

The Governor hailed the listener-supported station as "a timely and courageous innovation" in broadcasting.

Louis Schweitzer, who had been subsidizing WBAI as a personal undertaking, turned over the station formally to Harold Winkler, president of Pacifica, which operates KPFA in Berkeley and KPFK in Los Angeles.

WBAI hopes to become self-sustaining through the listener's payment of an annual subscription fee of $12 or more. According to Mr. Winkler, good music, special programs for children, out-of-the-ordinary documentaries, talks and panels will be among the station's presentations.

Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Fellowships at Harvard University, who regularly broadcasts over station WGBH-FM in Boston, will be heard on a weekly basis. The story of a man who elected to settle in East Berlin is one of this week's events.

Experimental poetry will be represented on the schedule. WBAI also enjoys the services of an able woman announcer who must be an alumna of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Yesterday's first live program was a panel discussion on the subject of payola and morality; the participants included Dr. Bernard Schwartz, who made headlines with his investigation of the Federal Communications Commission; Justice Justine Wise Polier, and Nat Hentoff, jazz critic. The moderator, naturally, was the ubiquitous David Susskind. The discussion of the press was especially lively and worthwhile.

To judge by a quick sampling of the first day—and the record of Pacifica on the West Coast—the revamped WBAI should prove a welcome addition to the New York radio scene. Surely a truly outspoken station with no taboos and a fresh programing approach should be able to carve a niche for itself.

In the onrush of television the potential of the sound medium has tended to be neglected, particularly in affording a platform for people with something to say and ability to say it.

Admittedly, pacifists may be taking on a more formidable assignment in New York than in California. There is, after all, station WNYC, the city-owned outlet, which does provide fine radio without commerical intrusions. Also there are the noncommercial educational FM stations as well as a number of commercial FM outlets that present many hours of classical music with a minimum of interruptions. For radio listening the FM dial in New York is an island of many languages.

Nonetheless, it is both heartening and significant that a listener-financial station should be making its bow at the present time. It is one more indication that, while advertiser-supported broadcasting does have many advantages, there should be a place for a supplementary service that is differently oriented and aspires to alternative goals.

If WBAI succeeds in demonstrating that a meaningful program schedule can be sustained by the generel audience without the need for pay-as-you-listen slot machines, foundation grants or advertiser appropriations, it could mark an important turn in the annals of New York broadcasting.

Special to The New York Times.

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 24 The acquisition of radio station WBAI-FM in New York by the Pacifica Foundation of this city, operator of two noncommercial FM stations in California, was announced today.

The announcement made here over the name of Harold Winkler, Pacifica's president, who was in New York, said that WBAI would be listener-sopnsored, without commercial advertising, as are the foundation's other stations.

Mr. Winkler stated that all of the stock of WBAI-FM, Inc., had been presented to the foundation by Louis Schweitzer, financier active in the Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

"We are deeply grateful to Mr. Schweitzer for his gift, and we intend to make this the most significant radio station in the country," the statement said.

The plan is to begin the New York operation in January, subject to approval of the Federal Communications Commission. Nonsubscribers would also be able to pick up the broadcasts.

Pacifica has operated KPFA here since 1949. It now has 7,500 subscribers, each paying $12 a year. In July it began operating KPFK in Los Angeles. Nearly 4,000 subscribers there are also paying $12.

A spokesman for KPFA said that the two stations in California exchanged programs.

"The rather revolutionary idea of listener-supported radio was conceived and nurtured here in the Bay area," Mr. Winkler's statement said. "It has proved to be a most sensible means of communication between thinking people, and the response to the idea has been as great in Southern California as here. I am confident that in New York the response would be the same.

"Because of our independent status, Pacifica is free to express every shade of responsible opinion and free to explore familiar and new channels or artistic creativity."

He said that WBAI would be devoted to "the best in music and the spoken word" and adhere to the policies that won the foundation a Peabody Award last year for "courageous venture into the lightly trafficked field of thoughtful broadcasting."

The foundation is a nonprofit, tax-exempt corporation controlled by a committee of directors from areas where its stations operate.

REPORT FROM THE LISTENER

(letters accompanying donations)

From J.C. in Stonybrook:

"WBAI got me interested in Central America and this former suburban housewife spent 2 weeks in Nicaragua in June. Now I'm out radicalizing suburbia. The political work you do is important. Keep it up."

From E.M. in Brooklyn:

"Being the only mass communication station in NYC that dares to air political beliefs that I hold to be true I am donating $15 for the betterment of your station and New York life (America not forgotten!)"

From M.S. in Stamford:

"I recently discovered that my former boss is a 'BAI listener I'd been working for him as a secretary for nearly a year but it wasn't until I learned of his support for the station that I could really say I knew him. I no longer work for him but during office get-togethers we have had some pretty interesting conversations on a myriad of subjects due simply to the fact that we tune into the same radio station and are now on the same 'wave length'.

"Today I received your January Folio in the inter-office mail from him. As cliche as it may sound, I went down memory lane reading through it. I'm twenty-two now and have listened to you through the years whether I liked it or not. My brother has been a die-hard fan for years and since when I was younger he owned the stereo and my mother didn't believe in television; I had no choice but to listen (in hindsight it was for my own good). But now that I'm older and wiser and own my own radio, I tune in because I WANT TO!

"Lest I forget the real purpose of this letter, please find enclosed my first token of support. I hope you'll forgive my 'free years' when I listened, but didn't pay."

Ah, The Memories

January 10, 1985

Dear WBAI,

I have just been listening to good old WBAI this evening and must admit that I have started to feel very nostalgic. In fact, nostalgic enough to sit down and write this letter, in spite of the fact that my wife is THE letter-writer in this family.

Hearing you people talk about the beginning of the station brought back many memories. We (I can safely say my whole family) have been WBAI listeners since day one—and also rooters and supporters. While I do not remember details, I can recall listening to the very beginning of the station and being very intrigued with the idea of non-commercial, listener-supported radio.

I thought back to the summer of 1966 when my oldest son, then 14 years old, had to spend the summer in the city to take some special courses while my wife spent the vacation in the country with the other two boys. Since school would only occupy the boy in the morning, my wife suggested that he go to WBAI as a volunteer when he was free from school. That sounded like a good idea to all of us. And so Herb walked into the station one day and volunteered his services. When he came home that evening we asked of course what he had been doing. It turned out that he had been asked to help put up posters in the neighborhood. He told us that he did not find that this was interesting enough and so he wandered into one of the edit rooms and helped there. Herb was then a budding ham radio enthusiast and anything that had to do with radio was fascinating. However, WBAI proved particularly fascinating and he spent many hours there in "Edit", learning the ropes. Eventually he learned enough and became a full-fledged staff member of the station. He even recorded programs to be aired at a later date. One evening I was mugged on Columbus Circle and spent many hours in Roosevelt Hospital, waiting for treatment (fortunately no serious injury). When I called Herb at WBAI and told him what had happened, he offered of course to come and get me. I told him that would not be necessary. He replied that this was fortunate, since he had a lot of work to do at the station before the time to go home. Eventually Herb got a 1st class radio operators license and this document was proudly displayed in the control room of WBAI.

I feel so nostalgic because I remember that in those years the station decided to conduct a survey in which listeners would send in forms indicating their likes and dislikes. My wife had lots of free time during the summer in the country and offered to the station to do the tabulating. And so Herb came home from the station nightly with bags full of questionnaires that had been mailed in; and every Friday night we would drive out to the country with stacks of these forms filling up the back of the car. And then, during the week my wife and the two other boys and some neighborhood kids would busily sort and tabulate the replies. Larry Josephson lived near us at that time and I remember him coming over, sitting on our porch and looking at some of the tabulations first hand.

I remember my first visit to WBAI in the first home on 39th (?) St. and my amazement to find that the bathtub there served as storage room for tapes. Of course the new station in the Church was quite an improvement. Herb proudly took me into "Edit B" and some other rooms and showed me the equipment. And when I look up from the typewriter, there on the wall hangs the framed original of the January 1973 Folio, with a dedication to my wife from Cathy Dobkin's father.

In short, WBAI has been a part of our lives and 25 years is quite a time. And I am looking forward to looking back and also forward at the big get-together planned for this spring. There are indeed times when programs are not to my liking, but there are also other times when they have involved our whole family—and so we keep sending in our contributions and groan with you people during the Marathons when the money does not come in as fast as we all would like.

And so—so long for now and let us hope that we all can enjoy many more years together (dare one hope for another 25?)

Sincerely

George Perten

PHONE CALL OF THE MONTH

A listener called the switchboard and asked if Steve Post would be on New Years Eve. "No," said Fred Kuhn, 'BAI's receptionist, "that's Steel Pulse!"

Happy Birthday! We are pleased to offer our best wishes and congratulations. May your special day shine with joy and may the year ahead be blessed with good health and happiness.
